PLAIN ENGLISH EULA FOR THE FONTRY

(End User License Agreement)

LICENSE TYPE: Standard or Universal as per receipt

MULTI-USER LICENSE ADJUSTMENT: 1-5 USERS no adjustment

The FONTRY owns the copyrights to the fonts contained in the FTY JACKPORT font family. The buyer/user/licensee, has the exclusive, unlimited rights and freedom to use the aforementioned font(s) royalty-free in any form of print, advertising, electronic media, signage, webfonts, logos, etc., as long as the font remains static in nature. This is considered a Standard Licensing Agreement.

A Univeral Licensing Agreement includes Standard Agreement plus it covers such use as games/apps, hardware and/or software distribution, interactive use, etc., unless otherwise specified by the user and The FONTRY. Such usage requires the purchase of a Universal License. Under a Universal Licensing Agreement, a font can be used as described in the Standard Licensing Agreement with the addition of special licensing arrangements that include but are not limited to: distribution via games, apps, hardware and/or software, ebooks, electronic devices, broadcast, etc. Font may also be used in interactive applications.

The buyer is also under no obligation to pay recompense or royalties to the Fontry based on profits that might accrue from the use of these fonts. The Fontry is also not obligated to pay compensation for losses due the use of these fonts. The buyer does not have the right to sell these fonts, redistribute them, give them away, remaster them or copy them for any reason other than data backup or file transfer to a third-party service, such as a service bureau, screen printer, sign shop, etc., for use in the production of the licensee's products only. A multi-station, multi-user license may not be required if the fonts are used by the buyer within the confines of the business or entity for whom these fonts were originally purchased. This agreement does not expire.

Mike Adkins

www.thefontry.com

v.November 24, 2014